When you first log in to your DaySmart app, look for the “Register” link on the home page. Then, scroll down and select the Hockey registration link. Once you're on the Stick and Puck page, it should look like this:

You don't have to fill out any of the boxes unless you need to select a different person to register!

Next, you'll need to scroll down and select the “level” you want to join. You don't need to fill out anything else on the page outside of making sure you're registering the correct person. We don't separate stick & puck by seasons or days of the week, so if any of those are filled out make sure you clear it or you won't see any levels show up! Let's say we're trying to register for May 22nd (“Late May”) at 12:00pm:

Sessions are separated by Early Month and Late Month registrations. You'll also see coach registrations and pickup registrations. You can ignore these unless you want to try our morning pick-up sessions!

You should see something like this pop up next. Go ahead and click register.

Now, you'll see two calendars: one for the 12:00pm sessions and one for the 4:15pm sessions. Make sure to open the dropdown to select individual events and click on the day you want to register.

The calendar will show the entire week, but only the days where rosters are open will be available to select. For example, Friday May 24th 12:00pm is not available because the roster may already be full, or we have another event going on during that time.

If you wanted to register for every available Thursday at 12:00pm, you would select the Thursday button adjacent to the individual events dropdown. This would register you for both May 23rd and May 30th.

If you wanted to register every available session for Late May, you would select the "Select All" checkbox.

Once you have all your dates selected, scroll down to confirm your registration and pay online!
